Events and Happenings at the San Francisco Public Library

May 2019 Vol. 50 No. 5

Dear Friends,

I am deeply honored to be appointed by Mayor London Breed as your new City Librarian. San Francisco has the premier urban library in the country and I am humbled to be standing on the shoulders of giants as the next City Librarian.

I am extremely proud of what we've accomplished this past year, from expanded and improved hours, to national honors, to initiating the effort to make the library system fine free. I look forward to working alongside the dedicated and passionate staff here at the Library to continue welcoming all through our doors and enhancing the quality of life for all San Francisco residents. As your City Librarian, my mission is to increase our innovative services and resources to ensure equity and excellent service.

I hope to see you soon, here, at the San Francisco Public Library.

Michael Lambert, City Librarian

Connect with Tech Week May 5-11

tarting a business. Sharing party photos. Reading the latest news.

What do they all have in common? More and more, these activities—and even mundane tasks like making a DMV appointment—take place online. To participate, you'll need the skills to navigate today's increasingly Connect with Tech Week, May 5–11, is here to help! During Connect with Tech, the library and its partners are hosting more than 80 hands-on trainings, workshops and events to show how technology can make a difference in your life. There are classes on everything from keyboard comfort to coding, with opportunities to play while you learn. A mobile phone photography walk, in the Mission on Cinco de Mayo, will get you better acquainted with your phone's camera—and help you share photos on Instagram. Parents can learn computer skills—with free childcare—at Twitter NeighborNest in a Digital Parents class, or bring the family to play Renegade Buggies, an online financial literacy game. Entrepreneurs can discover tools to help their business, and come to a panel discussion about how they can use technology to help the community.

Connect with Tech is a citywide initiative spearheaded by San Francisco Public Library, supported by Microsoft, and produced with help from more than 30 community partners. For more information, visit sfpl.org/connectwithtech or call The Bridge at Main at (415) 557-4388.

Mission Photo Walk and Learn Instagram! – May 5, 1 p.m., Mission Branch. Presented in Spanish and English.

Digital Parents – May 8, 1 p.m., Twitter NeighborNest, 95 Hayes St. Call (415) 557-4388 to sign up. (En español, 10 a.m.) Renegade Buggies – May 6,4 p.m., Excelsior Branch. Bilingual in English and Spanish.

Use Tech to Grow Your Business – May 8, 2:30 p.m., Main Library, Learning Studio, 5th Floor

Start Up and Start Change – May 9, 6 p.m., WeWork Golden Gate Theatre, 25 Taylor St.

Celebrate Asian Pacific American Heritage Month

id you know May 1st is Lei Day in Hawai'i? On this side of the Pacific, children and teens can learn how to make a candy lei, the perfect gift for graduation season, or do a deeper dive into Pacific Islander culture with Halau Ha'a Kea o Kinohi or Rahiti Polynesian Dance Company. Throughout May, the Library's famous and ever popular Snack Trials will come to a branch near you with Asian, Korean, Filipino and Sweets Editions for youth and their families. Try something new, nosh on a tried and true snack and don't forget to vote for your favorite. Finally, relax and recharge with Chinese painting and poetry, hands-on henna or Japanese origami.

Head over to Golden Gate Valley to meet author June Jo Lee as she shares her immigrant story from Seoul to San Francisco. Lee is the coauthor of Chef Roy Choi and the Street Food Remix and discusses the national food truck movement and her work as a food ethnographer studying American food culture. Enjoy a sample of her favorite Korean foods.

The library is honored to partner with the Asian Art Museum, APA Heritage Foundation and the Center for Asian American Media (CAAM) for a month of Asian Pacific Islander American commemorations, events and programs. We invite everyone to enjoy crafts, tea, food, music, dance, film screenings, author talks and more in observance of Asian Pacific Islander American culture within our community. Connect with Tech Fairs Citywide

Connect with Tech by attending one of the lively tech fairs happening all over the city. All events are free and open to the public, and most offer drawings for exciting tech prizes. Here's the rundown:

Tech Expo at City Hall – Tuesday, May 7, 1–3 p.m., City Hall, North Light Court. See what's new, useful and free from the world of technology—from virtual reality to accessibility devices to tech services. Enter a drawing for a Chromebook and other prizes.

Ask Me about Tech – Wednesday, May 8, 3–6 p.m., The Women's Building, 3543 18th St. Ask technology experts about mobile devices, email, social media, cyber security and more. Enjoy refreshments and enter a drawing for three personal computers and other prizes. Bilingual Spanish and English.

Tenderloin Tech Fair – Saturday, May 11, 9 a.m.–3 p.m., St. Anthony's Tenderloin Tech Lab, 150 Golden Gate Ave. Get patient, one-on-one help with computer repair, smartphones, coding, websites and more.

Bayview Branch Tech Fair – Saturday, May 11, 11 a.m.–2 p.m., Bayview Branch. Get your very own refurbished desktop computer while supplies last! Speak with tech gurus about devices, low-cost Internet, community resources and much more.

For more information about Connect with Tech Week, visit sfpl.org/connectwithtech.

New Digital Service Offers Magazines from Asia

The Library has partnered with Kono Digital to offer high-quality magazines from Asia. From arts and fashion to business and leisure, Kono provides free access to more than 200 full-color digital titles from Hong Kong, Taiwan and Japan, with more additions on the way. Chinese titles are published in traditional characters.

Sign in with your library card to read magazines in a web browser on your computer, or get the Kono for Libraries app (Android, iOS) to enjoy them on your smartphone or tablet. All titles are available on demand and there's nothing to return, so they're perfect for travel as well as leisure-time reading.

Check out Kono Digital now at sfpl.org/emags.

FOG Readers Moves into the Sunshine

We're thrilled to announce that librarian Laura Lay has been chosen as a Library Journal 2019 Mover & Shaker in the Educator field for starting FOG Readers to help children read. The program is based on Orton-Gillingham methodology which breaks reading and spelling into smaller skills involving letters and sounds. It is a phonetically based, sequential, structured approach that uses multisensory techniques—sight, hearing, touch and movement to help learners connect language with letters and sounds.

Students are matched with a trained volunteer tutor and meet once a week at the library. Currently there are 150 pairs of tutors and children meeting weekly together at 23 library locations. There are also a lot of kids on the program waiting list, so if you're interested in volunteering (or know of kids who need help), send them to Laura via sfpl.org/fog.

New at The Mix: Teaching Artists

The Mix at SFPL is the Main Library's creative learning space and digital media lab designed by teens, for teens ages 13-18. At The Mix, teens find a welcoming environment where they can explore their passions through interest-driven learning in the audio and video studios and makerspaces. Now, teens have the opportunity to take their learning to the next level thanks to the addition of skilled teaching artists. Through a partnership with SF Recreation and Parks, teaching artists are at The Mix daily to serve as media mentors for teens, and their skills include 3D animation, game design, robotics, 3D printing, sewing, fine art and much more. The teen who likes to play the computer game Fortnight can now learn the code to design their own characters. The teen who wants to add 3D animation to their project now has a skilled mentor to help them achieve their goal. For more information, contact The Mix, (415) 557-4404, themix@sfpl.org, or visit themixatsfpl.org.

New Photographic Works Inspired by Play

This exhibition of engaging photos by Jarrell Phillips shows how play takes shape in our lives. Through photography of the personal and cultural experiences of children, adults, artists and circus performers, How We Play explores the existence and significance of play from childhood to adulthood.

Photos explore different games as well as the circus, music and capoeira, an Afro-Brazilian martial art that combines elements of dance, acrobatics and music. Assorted musical instruments and games from around the world will also be on display.

This exhibit is intended for everyone: young and old, educators, artists, innovators, business professionals and leaders.

Pachinko by Min Jin Lee

A saga about four generations of a Korean immigrant family. Sunja, born in a small fishing village, falls in love with an organized crime boss and becomes pregnant. A local pastor offers an escape to Japan, and so she begins a new life in a new country.

This engrossing book chronicles one family's place in history and captures a multi-generational struggle to survive, to belong and to thrive. The characters deal with poverty, immigration, a hostile nation, and confront these issues in various ways. Will they fulfill the worst stereotypes about them? Will they work hard to be perfect immigrants? The various twists, turns, and jumps-in-time keep Pachinko humming at a quick pace.

Experience APA Heritage with Quilt and Fabric Art

Using everyday materials such as fabric, silk, willow branches and ivy, artist Kimiko Kogure creates powerful quilts. As a first-generation Japanese-American born in the city where the silk industry was once prominent, Kogure threads her life experiences and the memories of her childhood together.

For Kogure, small forgotten pieces of fabric can create harmony, remnants of cherished cloths can rekindle memories tucked away and perseverance can transform fragility to beauty. It is a process of her life as she puts forward new steps by learning acceptance and gratitude for each life lived; no matter how small and insignificant it seems.

4 MAY 2019 AT THE LIBRARY

Two Hundred Years of Walt Whitman

This year marks the 200th birthday of Walt Whitman. Neeli Cherkovski, author of Whitman's Wild Children, hosts poets Ivan Argüelles, Jerry Ferraz, Jack Hirschman, Kim Shuck, Agneta Falk, Sunnylyn Thibodeaux, Ava Koohbor, Gerald Nicosia, Linda Noel, Jack Foley, Gail Mitchell, Nellie Wong and Tate Swindell. These contemporary poets pay tribute to Whitman as they read his poetry and some of their own. Neeli Cherkovski will also honor Joanne Kyger, David Meltzer and Bob Kaufman—favorite American poets who carried on Whitman's prose.

Potrero Artists Shine

Announcing the 61st annual Artists' Exhibition at the Potrero Hill Branch Library. Artists who live, work, or study on Potrero Hill and in the Dogpatch neighborhood participate in this annual show. Come for the reception and library branch

Open House to enjoy live music, light refreshments, and the opportunity to meet the neighborhood artists.

The Potrero Hill Artists' Exhibition is purportedly the oldest annual art show in San Francisco. The show began in 1955 and has run every year since (barring 3 years when the branch was closed for renovations). The very first show was organized by the late Charles Farr and a group of neighborhood artists. Together they helped save the branch from being closed in 1955.

Wanted: Families with New Babies

New baby? We want to celebrate with you at a Community Baby Shower. All expecting families and those with young toddlers, aged less than 24 months, are welcome. Enjoy Baby Rhyme Time, a play area for little ones, light refreshments and a hand or foot print craft to remember this special time with your little one. Our guests include community agencies eager to let new families know about available community resources. Plus, the first 250 families will receive a gift for attending the event with your baby.

Our Library; Our Impact

rom community connections to children's literacy, our SFPL far transcends books.

The San Francisco Public Library is a beacon for so much good in San Francisco. From homeless services, immigration help, author readings, craft and performance programs and unrestricted internet access, the library is a free space that empowers every member of our society with tools to learn and engage the community around them. No matter the socioeconomic background, every person in San Francisco is a part of the library. Whether it's participating in library services, or supporting the voter-approved Library Preservation Fund, the library is part of our identity. Board member Sarah Jones said it best in a recent speech at the 2019 Library Laureates fundraiser, "It's not the library, it's our library."

Friends is an integral part of making sure the library is fully equipped to take on its important work. While the city covers the library's staffing and operational costs, private donations allow Friends to pay for expenses that fall outside of the city's capacity and to more quickly respond to needs. Support include fees for subcontracted service providers; honorariums for authors, artists and curators; collections acquisition; equipment; program supplies; food; multilingual materials; and professional training to keep SFPL librarians on the leading edge of innovation.

By supporting Friends, you can see the direct impact you are having on the 2018 Library of the Year. The partnership between Friends, the Library, and you is the reason our library is so successful and nationally recognized as a beacon of inclusivity in our community.

Books and Brews at Anchor Public Taps

Friends has started a new collaboration with Anchor Brewing Company. Every month, Friends fills up tables at the Potrero Hill brewery with an amazing selection of books and vinyl. Nineteen handcrafted beers are on tap and 5,000 book titles are available in all categories. You can hang out with book lovers and drink up Anchor's selection of amazing brews on tap.

The brewery's open space has room to meet up with friends, bring co-workers out for a drink, or just sit alone and read. Dogs are also allowed on the bar patio so feel free to bring your furry friends. Plus, there's always a culinary pop-up on site and street parking is available.

This sale is a part of our Community Book Program (CBP) that produces the Big Book Sale, Weekly Step Sales at the Main, $1 Sale at the Donation Center, and runs the two Friends Bookstores at Fort Mason and in the Main Library. These efforts make Friends the second largest used bookseller in the city.

About a million books per year are donated to the CBP at our Donation Center located at 1630 17th Street in Potrero Hill. This book program empowers Friends to advocate for the Library and provides inexpensive books for all residents of San Francisco. When you buy books at our Books and Brews events, proceeds go to Friends and our mission to support the San Francisco Public Library.

Books and Brews – May 2, 5–8 p.m., 495 De Haro Street. Future dates at friendssfpl.org.

The mission of Friends of the San Francisco Public Library is to create, steward and support a superior, free public library system in San Francisco. We are committed to raising the standard of excellence of our libraries by funding programs and services beyond what is allocated in the city's budget. We believe in free and equal access to information for all.
